

Editorial

The idea here is to check for any negative cycles in the directed graph. This can be done by implementing the Bellman-Ford algorithm, and running it one more round after the usual $n-1$. We can then compare to see if any value changed, and, if so, we have a negative cycle.